

Call for participation:

Indian Summer School on Speech Recognition

Place: Bangalore;

Dates: July 16-29, 2007

IEEE Signal Processing chapter (India) is organizing a 10 day Summer School & workshop in Automated Speech Recognition -- to be taught by leading international experts (Dr. Bhiksha Raj of MERL & others from Carnegie Mellon University). In addition to the teaching of basic theory, there will be a computer lab in which students will be guided towards building a working speech recognizer. The summer school will be followed by a symposium -- “ASR4India – needs, solutions and research roadmap of automated speech recognition in Indian context” on 29th July with panel discussions, presentations & demo's from industry & academic experts.

Tentative fees : Students: Rs 5000; Teachers: Rs 7500; Professional: (Govt. Org.- Rs 10000 Private Org.- Rs 15000); Daily Lunch & snacks, books & other materials are included in the fees. A limited number of low-cost rooms available for out-of-town attendees for shared and single accommodation.

SEATS ARE LIMITED for this unique learning event & getting filled fast

If you are interested.....

Please Pre-Register immediately by sending an email to

Dr. Amitav Das, Microsoft Research India

Email : amitavd@microsoft.com & v-mallk@microsoft.com

