Response: Seems like a good idea. I liked the layout, though color scheme seemd a bit 'loud.' Overall, go with it

Response: I think it looks very neat and professional. Easy to find what you are looking for.

Response: Red & yellow are too harsh on the eyes. How about more soothing colors. Blues grays black brown. Column width of text could be a little wider. Much of the screen is wasted with the graphic.

Response: I'm not sure about the bright red, and red links are confusing (as they can have other meanings).. but I like the layout. Look at "grayscale" the page to make sure the colors can still be read (red/green colorblind is a huge problem). Keep up with the innovations - it's fun to watch the site grow and change.

Response: Actually it's not too bad...it's just really red, and I am in favor of pastels or neutrals...or maybe IEEE Green? :) Thanks for asking!!!

Response: Format is fine.. small summary for all the articles is very useful.. Some comment on looks: If RED colour can be made slightly softer it would be fine.

Response: I liked the new format, although I did find it very red in colour. I expect that when more text is included it will be better balanced.

Response: Maybe the color is too red :D

Response: Reduce the width of the first column and increase the width of the second column by the same amount.

Response: Too many strong colors. The column on the left is a kind of table of content. The top of the right column is similar to the left one.

Response: - a very subjective remark: the new layout is fine, but for the color. I do not like the bright red; would prefer a color more relaxing for my vision system (green, blue, less bright red, ...).

Response: I like the lack of scrolling in the new proposed version, and it looks compact.

Response: Why have u chosen a color combination of red and grey. How about a more attractive combination of red and blue..irrespective of its resemblance to the Pepsi logo i think it works fine. Blue and White should also work wonders. Just make sure the color is soothing to the eyes .Great work otherwise.Keep it up

Response: The old format was excellent. This format would probably be excellent too.

Response: Maybe the red is a bit too strong although I know it may be a matter of color preference.
